2009 AUG 28 AM 8:18

HONOLULU, HAWAI'I, August 27, 2009 – Honolulu City Council Chair Todd K. Apo announced today a new Council Committee line up which will begin with next week's committee meetings.

"The goal of the Council's committee structure continues to be - implementing an effective and productive tool to address the issues and legislation before it, while remaining supportive of the public input and participation process. In the months ahead, the Council is expected to continue its discussions about transit, development plan updates, affordable housing as well as bring on line an additional workgroup to review sustainable building practices and codes. The committee line up was expanded from six to seven to support these Council activities thoroughly and efficiently," commented Chair Apo.

The major changes to committee leadership include: Councilmember Ikaika Anderson will chair the newly formed Committee on Planning; Councilmember Gary Okino will serve as the chair of the Committee on Transportation; and incoming Councilmember Ann Kobayashi will chair the Council's Public Infrastructure Committee.
